Live in Bing

Included is: one training dataset, two testing sets, and the two answer sets for each testing set.

The objectives for student is to accurately analyze what feature is the most important, predict the price for the testing sets and also find out which testing set is for student housing and why: they should not directly compare the training and testing sets, but should be able to explain why by some visualization with techniques such as dimensional reduction etc.